

From the Grapevine

September brings the annual harvest of Concord grapes, which got the name because they were first grown in Concord, Mass., in the mid-1800s. The grapes grew to be a popular pick after they were made into a jam called grape-lade, which was included in soldiers' rations during World War I. Along with the familiar fruit spread, the purple grapes are also made into juice.

Pick of the Crop

Sweet and crisp, Gala apples are the top-selling variety of the fruit.
